Acting Chairman Michael Bray asked Ted Sandidge to be sworn in. Mr. Sandidge was advised of the staff recommendations and motion made.

The board was advised that the department was recommending that all cars, storage and trailer number one be removed and revoke C/O for entire property.

Acting Chairman Michael Bray asked what would happen to the vehicles once removed from the property. Mr. Bray was advised that they would be removed and placed on the street and given a five day notice for removal by the El Paso Police Department. If not done, the vehicles would more than likely be put in storage.

If the Certificate of Occupancy for the property is revoked, the property owner will not be allowed to live there.

Board member Al Jurado advised then if owner goes back would he would be in violation of the order. Mr Jurado was advised that the department would not have control over if man returns to the property. He was advised the commission has no jurisdiction on trespassing. If the owner does not comply with the order, the city will board and secure and place a lien on the property.

Member Charles Taylor stated if cars are placed on street, it would be considered junk on the street. This would entice others to vandalize and set up a injury condition. Mr. Taylor was advised that the inspector would work with the police department on how this issue would be handled.

Acting Chairman Michael Bray informed everyone that this issue is not up to the board. The board is to review the revocation of the Certificate of Occupancy. Assistant City Attorney Wendi Vineyard advised the commission on what action they can take. The board was also informed that once a decision is made, other city agencies would be involved to insure that the orders are complied with. Chief Building Inspector Ron Roth advised they can coordinate with other city entities on the vehicle issue.

Board Member Charles Taylor suggested that it would be better for cars to remain inside property for safety reasons. Acting Chairman Michael Bray again repeated the staff recommendations on what is being recommended. Member Al Jurado suggested putting the antique operable vehicles somewhere on the property. Mr Jurado was advised the brother of the owner was to take responsibility of the vehicles. City attorney Wendi Vineyard advised it would be up to probate court on what action to take when the time comes.

Board member Sam Guido asked if the owner could live in the trailer. Chief Building Inspector Ron Roth advised property was not zoned for trailers.
