Welcome to the brand new website for the El Paso Museum of History's Digital Wall, DIGIE. We are adding images and features every day, so check back frequently to see the collection expand, and join the team to upload images and video about our city. While we are fine tuning the site we would love to hear what internet browser you are using. Send an email to digitalwall@elpasotexas.gov and tell us the browser (e.g. Firefox, Chrome, Internet Explorer) and the version (e.g. Internet Explorer 9). Thanks! And happy browsing.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE DIGIE COLLECTIONS

WHAT IS DIGIE?

DIGIE stands for Digital Information Gateway In El Paso.

DIGIE is a vast collection of images and videos exploring El Paso's past and present. It examines its people and its many cultures on giant 3-D touch-sensitive TV screens at the Museum of History and on a mobile Mini-Digie as well. Our Mini-Digie will be transported to classrooms, malls, community centers and other locations where citizens gather so everyone has the opportunity to experience and be included in El Paso's digital history.

The collection of images that powers DIGIE can also be browsed on this website. Most importantly, you can upload your own

Get started now by registering (or log in if you already have registered). Like any other sharing site, we need to protect viewers from undesirable or illegal uploads, so we need you to agree to our Terms of Use. You also need to be over the age of 13. Ask your parents or a teacher if you need help.

Upload one file at a time. Please fill out the "Description" as fully as you can.

Some hints on files:

Photos must be a jpg, png or gif image and no larger than 10 megabytes

Be aware that the larger the file size, the longer the upload time. If you have trouble uploading files please email digitalwall@elpasotexas.gov
